Message from Vice-Chancellor's Desk:

Greetings from the Majuli University of Culture, Majuli, Assam!

It gives me immense pleasure to welcome all the students who aspire to be part of the intellectual journey of the Majuli University of Culture.

The Majuli University of Culture is a holistic, multi and inter disciplinary higher educational hub of studies and research in different disciplines with special focus on culture, cultural preservation, growth and progress with quality and optimal learning environments and support, effective governance with other infrastructure facilities as defined in the National Education Policy 2020, Government of India. The University will take up the human ecology and environment of this part of India, its colourful cultures, rich folklore, language, and the intellectual heritage to understand them academically and cultivate them for the progress of our society. The uniqueness of Majuli in terms of social and geographical entity with its rich cultural heritage has been derived from the tradition inherited from Mahapurusha Srimanta Sankaradeva and his disciple Mahapurusha Madhavadeva interwoven with the rich floral fabrics of the pristine cultures of the Misings, Deuris and Kacharis. The establishment of the University on the bank of the Luit river, the old channel of the Brahmaputra, flowing on the north of the island encompassing varied groups of population with their colourful cultural life, presupposes a unique site by itself.

The island society also boasts of its traditional Vaishnava institutions called Satra of which the grand ones with celibate inmates, such as the Auniati, Dakhinpat, Garamur, Kamalabari and others (like Bengenaati, Chamaguri, Bhogpur etc.) still govern the moral and spiritual life of Assam to a large degree. Preservatories of extensive tangible and intangible cultural resources these Satras along with the island's varied topographical, demographical, ethno-cultural and natural landscape areas, have made the island district a natural museum for mankind.

The University shall remain responsible for their discovery and rediscovery; understanding and interpretation; cultivation, collection and preservation; and above all, in situating them in the larger perspective of Indian culture and civilization. At this nascent stage, we may hope that all irrespective of their religious affinities, ethnic and linguistic diversities, social distinctions, ages or territories will accord support for the healthy growth of the University.

The University is presently running Five Year Integrated Programs (Four Year UG + one year PG Program) as per NEP 2020, PG and Ph.D. Programs in different disciplines. Further, we are going to introduce PG Program in Performing Arts and minor subjects in Sociology, Economics and Political Science from this Academic Session.

We offer our thanks and gratitude to all those in whose dream the seed of the University germinated and, in whose care, we expect it to grow.

Prof. Nirode Boruah
Vice-Chancellor, Majuli University of Culture

Message from Registrar's Desk:

Welcome to Majuli University of Culture, Majuli, Assam!

Majuli University of Culture is a State Public University of Assam imparting multi-disciplinary traits of higher education as per NEP 2020 established in the year 2018. Since inception, the University endeavours to emerge as a promising hub of quality education through its up-to-date and globally compatible curriculum, innovative pedagogy and young-energetic faculty- members with diverse academic credentials. Although, presently the University has only three academic departments, namely- Assamese, History and Performing Arts; but we offer all the three major levels of higher education, i.e. Undergraduate (FYUGP), Post Graduate and Ph.D. Programmes besides the Diploma and Certificate Programmes. We believe, the courses of studies offered by Majuli University of Culture is different and special from many points of view, such as-(a) introduction of Five-Year Integrated Masters (FYUGP + 1 Year Masters) programme instead of simple FYUGP, which will help the students to get entry to Post Graduate Programmes directly without appearing PG entrance, (b) emphasis on experimental and experiential teaching-learning through innovative and collaborative approach, (c) creating scope for multi-disciplinary soft-skill, life-skill and creative-skill training, etc.

The University is growing simultaneously with our young students with diverse challenges, potentialities and possibilities. The Nation should expect a highly energetic, well-trained, compassionate, committed and nationalistically global pool of human resource from our University.

We appeal the youth from different part of the Country to join with us as students, research scholars as well as faculty members in this glorious journey.

Best wishes-

Dr. B. C. Borah
Registrar
Majuli University Culture, Majuli

3. The Institution: A Brief Overview:

The Majuli University of Culture plans to grow as a multidisciplinary higher educational institution with specialization in the studies and research in culture and cultural heritage of India with an objective of making it gradually a University of Category 1 as defined in the New Education Policy of India. Study and research in the multidimensional cultural life of the people of India, more particularly, those of Assam and the North East being its primary concern, the University envisions itself to grow finally as an institution of multidimensional education to enable it to embrace within its scope all disciplines including liberal arts and basic sciences pertaining to human cultures and civilization. The objective is to create a class of useful citizens who would be able to lead our society in the face of the twenty-first century multi-dimensional necessities. With both Undergraduate and Postgraduate programmes and programmes of critical research in the field of humanities and social sciences, folklore, language and literature, music and dance, dramatic and theatre arts, applied, visual and fine arts, various forms of traditional and modern crafts and vocations, design and architecture, archaeology, ethnography and sculpture, Indian traditional systems of health cultures and knowledge systems, and any other forms of human knowledge, the University aims to provide education towards making India a first category knowledge-hub and a centre of attraction for all classes of knowledge-seekers from across the world.

Faculty of Study: Subject to change and modifications the University starts with the following Faculties/Schools:

- Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences
- Faculty of Performing, Visual and Applied Arts
- Faculty of Language and Literature

3.1 Vision and Mission:

Planned as a State institution of higher education and learning in the different disciplines with special focus on art and culture the Majuli University of Culture, Majuli, shall engage itself for study and cultivation of the various dimensions of culture and civilization with an objective of promoting them to the level of an excellent and competitive order. Covering all aspects of culture within its ambit the University is destined to be a multidisciplinary institution of higher education with necessary emphasis on the vocational and professional side of learning, and high-quality research and training to make education a tool of social development and economic independence. India being a multi-cultural society with rich and colourful heritage in the field of ideas and institutions, cultures and civilizations, languages and literatures, folklore, religion and philosophy, food and health, art and architecture -these aspects shall constitute the basic concern of the University within the greater cobweb of global human civilization. In fine, it envisions to make itself a finely designed institution of innovation and research and a dependable institution for education and learning designed and structured upon Indian values and ethos. The aim is to help transforming India to a hub of capable citizens who can successfully respond to the 21st century situations and beyond with their vibrant knowledge stores.
